

This week in our credit union...

March 27, 2012

$500 Donation – Reno Lagasse, one of the Fort Kent Mural Project organizers accepts a donation from NorState Federal Credit Union’s Fort Kent Branch manager, Allen Chamberland. The monies raised will be for a 35 foot wide by 29 foot high mural on the side of one of the old railroad buildings on Market Street in Fort Kent. The mural will depict farming in the Valley.

Student Participation Encouraged - Susan Dubay is one of those educators that makes a difference in the lives of the students she teaches, because she wants to, and that is why when she found out she was taking her Jobs for Maine Grads students to the CDCs in Augusta in April, her ‘this is how we are going to pay for this’ drive kicked in. Pictured receiving a monetary donation for her students going to competition is Mrs. Dubay, JMG educator at Fort Kent’s Community High School and Allen Chamberland, branch manager, NorState FCU Fort Kent.

Community raises to the challenge – Alan Susee, owner of the Fort Kent Sears approached NorState and asked if NFCU could accommodate him in collecting funds for Fort Kent fire victims who lost everything last week. CEO David Rossignol and Fort Kent Branch Manager Allen Chamberland responded quickly. NorState FCU has 6 convenient branches throughout northern and central Aroostook, and the word spread quickly as anonymous donations or members calling in to make an account transfer to the fundraising relief effort came pouring in. Pictured is the makeshift sign designed by the staff at NFCU Fort Kent to keep tabs on how the progress is going. In just a few days, you can see that they topped the goal of $10,000 and have reached over the goal in relatively a short matter of days. As pictured, funds raised by 10 am on Friday was well over $15,000!
